

Company Profile

Delacon is a leading provider of innovative phytogenic solutions for animal nutrition, utilizing the power of nature to support animal nutrition and health, performance, and well-being. With a strong commitment to sustainable practices, Delacon harnesses the power of phytogenics to deliver cutting-edge products that utilize science-based combinations of bioactive compounds found in plants. Specific phytogenics can have a positive impact on animals, people, and/or the environment.

Delacon's solutions are carefully developed through extensive research and collaboration with industry experts, aiming to deliver phytogenics that promote animal health and wellbeing while ensuring optimal nutritional outcomes. By leveraging the potential of nature's own ingredients and bioactives, Delacon empowers farmers to enhance their livestock production while meeting evolving market demands and achieving sustainable growth.

Delacon is based in Engerwitzdorf, Austria. Since 2022 Delacon is fully owned by Cargill, a world leading agricultural company. The merger combines Cargill's global network and deep expertise in animal nutrition technologies with Delacon's pioneering knowledge and market experience in phytogenics. Both are further committed to research, innovation, sustainability, and collaboration in the nutritional, digestive and immune health space and becoming the global market leader in additives.